Presented by the Junior Class
State University Teachers College
Plattsburgh, New York

Life at Plattsburgh State Teachers College, with its many varied experiences, has always inspired its graduates to become good citizens of the community and of the world. Our life here is an aggregate of work and play, channeled by our parents and the administration.

We already know, we future teachers, that our profession is of outstanding importance. We have long realized that our college life is giving us the knowledge and understanding which will help us fulfill our professional promise. Our lives and those of our prospective students will be influenced by our Plattsburgh experience. We have come to feel that our development has been similar to that of a tree.

Like the roots which are imbedded in the ground from which comes their nourishment, so our lives are enriched by our parents. As the roots of our lives, they have given us the strength and encouragement to become individuals and to face the future with confidence. After our arrival at college, the administration became another source of inspiration. Like the trunk of the tree, they upheld us and urged our growth to greater professional heights. We are the branches of this tree, each growing his own way and making the most of every talent and opportunity. Our efforts, like the leaves, produced by the branches of the tree, create in us professional competence, personality, self-reliance, and maturity.

Because our yearbook is a record and keepsake of our college years, we hope it will serve as a constant reminder of that stately creation, the tree, and that we may strive always to achieve a life similar in grace and beauty.

dedicated TO OUR PARENTS . . .

Three years of our college life are completed. As we enter our senior year we look back and realize how quickly the time has slipped by. It has been fun for us academically and socially. We can see how much we owe to you for all that we have gained here at P. S. T. C.

You were willing to sacrifice four years that we might complete our formal education and experience all the social and cultural aspects of college life. You are the roots of the tree that nourished our lives so that college could be so meaningful.

Sometimes we may not show it, but we do appreciate what you have done for us. Through your guidance and understanding, we have something that no one will ever be able to take away from us. So now we dedicate this Cardinal to you, Mom and Dad, our severest critics and most ardent fans.

.... THE ROOTS

*that gave the tree life,
nourishing its growth*

In Memory of Dr. Ward

"If you are asked to go one mile, go two . . . Teaching is not an easy way of life, but is any worthwhile profession? . . .

"To maintain and enrich our American 'way of life' is an ever increasing challenge to the teachers of America. In our college, we believe that this way of life means the fullest development of you as an individual. It means also an ever increasing sense of responsibility toward the nation and the world of which we are a part. For every freedom, there is a commensurate responsibility. Our students and faculty will strive with high purpose to assist you as a person to achieve this individual development and its social direction. We shall ask that you give to the children and communities of our state and nation, all and more than you receive. In this way alone can we remain true to the heritage and vision which is American . . .

"In your professional service I can promise you that intangible satisfaction which is more permanent than all other values. It is more permanent because it comes only from the realization of having given self that the children of today and the citizens of tomorrow may live more completely. To this end your school is dedicated and for this purpose you are destined . . .

"Whatever the future may be, you and I are committed to the principle that each and every child assigned to our care shall have opportunity for the development and expression of his abilities . . ."

We who have lived so close to Dr. Ward will always be inspired by his deep faith in the worth of the individual and the value of democracy. We will be guided toward "a philosophy of life that will give meaning to existence and those good moral and intellectual habits which will put support behind character and impulse under endeavor."

As Juniors we have seen the years slip by and now we are on the threshold of our Senior year. Soon we must face the world, assuming our role as teachers.

Yet we cannot forget the enjoyable times that we have spent during our past three years. As Freshmen it took but a short while to become oriented to college, and soon we were taking part in organizations and activities. Our Sophomore year was an eventful one. We had our Frosh-Soph party, our Sophomore Soiree, and the March of Dimes contest and dance. We gained much that year, but lost to the Navy our friend and advisor, Mr. Lesage.

We entered our Junior year with determination, and under the guidance of Mr. Delaire, our new advisor, we set forth to make this year the best yet. We had several dances and parties, but the highlight of the year was Junior Week which proved not only to be a great deal of fun, but also brought to mind the value of being a part of a close-knit class.

We discovered as Juniors that more was expected of us, and were elected to positions which demanded lots of work and responsibility. Through our active participation in professional clubs, student government, and other organizations and activities, we were branching out from our school and giving, like the branches of a tree, nourishment to enlarge in growth the leaves, or activities of which we were a part.

We leave our Junior year regretfully, knowing that when we meet again as a complete class, we will be taking the final step in our college life at P. S. T. C.

Our Class Advisor

Mr. Dewey DeLaire took on a new responsibility this year when he accepted the position as Junior Class advisor. He has been a great help to us, always willing to guide and assist us in our affairs.

Queens of our Time

The March of Dimes Campaign, sponsored by the Class of '53, was an outstanding event. A lasting memory of the campaign is the queen, Eurydice Damianos, and her Court. These people were selected from the student body to reign for an evening.

Carol Neville, queen of the Athletic Ball, and her date.

Remember last year's king and queen?

The time has come for you to leave P.S.T.C., but your spirit will remain in the hallowed halls of our great college.

Your wonderful, indomitable spirit has been the guiding force for all of us these past years. To you we have looked for guidance, for counsel, and for strength, and you have never failed us. May this same enthusiasm carry you through life and be your guiding light in whatever tasks you undertake.

Many of you have served our country in the past, and perhaps more of you will be called to serve her in the future; others of you will be serving our nation in the classrooms throughout the country. You, as graduates, are charged with the responsibility of developing our country's future citizens, and your success will determine our nation's greatness in the future.

You are going into an unstable world, but we are confident that you will do your job as well as you served your college. With this confidence in you, we bid you good-by. May you be as successful in life as you were in college.

"Vive la '54." What phrase could be more appropriate for the Sophs? They got off with a bang last year and were right in the thick of things this year.

Hazing the Frosh is a traditional activity for the Sophomores, and this year it took place with its usual good sportsmanship. Initiation always seems to help the Freshmen get acquainted with their own classmates, as well as with the upper-classmen of the college.

The Sophomore Soirée was the second formal dance to be held in the main lounge of the Student Union. The U.V.M. Calamonts provided danceable music to go with the gala atmosphere.

With a true class spirit, the Frosh-Soph Picnic ended a successful, eventful, and happy year.

This year, following tradition, the freshmen began their college life with the "brutal" hazing by Sophomores. However, these newcomers retained the strength to pull the "almighty" upper classmen into and through the pond.

The first dance which the freshmen sponsored as a class was held in February and was one of the social highlights of their first year at P.S.T.C.

The fundamental structure of student government at Plattsburgh State is the House of Delegates. Better known as the "House," this governing body regulates the whole student body social program in accordance with administrative policy.

The "House" is composed of delegates from every student organization in the college and is guided by the Dean of Men, Dr. Redcay, and the Dean of Women, Miss Lewis.

Unique in its style of organization, the "House" is a throwback to the days of the New England town meetings, in that each member has a chance to have his say in the decisions of the "House."

The bi-monthly meetings are entirely student governed. The delegates are charged with the responsibility of drawing up the budget and allocating student funds, establishing student organizations, exchanging ideas with other colleges, and checking on the activities of the student clubs.

It is a credit to its members that they carry out this responsibility with integrity and thoroughness.

Student Council

Holding a position of growing importance in our college life, this organization is working for more efficient service to the student body. The members meet twice a month to help determine the policies and programs for presentation to the House of Delegates.

Student Union Board

Also members of the Women's Residence Board are Ellen Kilty, Barbara Flood, Gail Gorman, Presidents, and Marguerite Frink, Vice-President of Macdonough Hall.

Women's Residence Board

With the opening of the Student Union, a new organization known as the Student Union Board developed. In general, this board recommends policies and procedures concerning the use of the Student Union and its facilities.

It is to this group that we are indebted for such items as our magazines, ping pong tables, and juke box.

The board is composed of faculty and student members. Miss Catherine Davis, director of the Student Union, is at present chairman of the board.

The purpose of the Women's Residence Board is to make and maintain certain necessary regulations for the living arrangements of the women students. The Board is composed of the presidents of the college houses and dormitories, who meet once a month with Dean Lewis to discuss, and if necessary, to change the house rules and safety conditions within the various residences.

Social Committee

The members of this committee are chosen by the House of Delegates and are responsible for many of the social activities within the college. This year, the group is responsible for the mixer dances held in the new Student Union, the movie nights, and for dances held after basketball games. Cards, records, and other game room equipment for the Student Union is provided by the Social Committee. It is this group which tries to keep our weekends well-filled socially.

Assembly Committee

The assemblies at P.S.T.C. are a part of the educational pattern of the college and offer the students the opportunity of hearing and meeting speakers and artists of note.

A committee designated by the House of Delegates is assisted by faculty members in selecting programs for both day and evening presentations. The group also plans informal luncheons and entertainment for the guests, which provide an excellent opportunity for direct social contact between students and visiting celebrities.

Student Guidance Committee

Student campus problems are the chief concern of the Student Guidance Committee. The members of this committee are chosen by the House of Delegates. Suggestions for improvement or adjustment of college facilities are referred to this group for consideration. They undertake the unpublicized tasks which help to make the college run more smoothly.

Inter-class Council

Harmony and cooperation among the classes is the goal of the Inter-class Council. Each month this committee meets to plan and recommend policies designed to maintain satisfactory college standards.

Especially notable among their plans are the class activity schedule and Class Day program. Through the planning and supervision of this group the traditional Class Day is a memorable event.

Inter-fraternity Council

The Inter-Fraternity Council works to promote better cooperation among the three sororities by regulating such fraternal activities as rushing, initiation, pledging, and the formal "inter-frat" dance.

This year the Council has revised its Constitution, bringing about several changes in the functions of the sororities.

The work of the Inter-Fraternity Council has done much to add to the social and fraternal aspects of the Clios, the Agos, and the Alpha Delt.

Extra-class Activities Committee

At Plattsburgh a varied program has been developed to supplement the organized curricula. A student-faculty Extra-Curricular Activities Committee is responsible for planning and evaluating the extra-class program.

This year the committee has discussed and made recommendations to the House of Delegates concerning the formation of a Curriculum Committee. Plans were made for better organization of student activities and broader participation in extra-class activities.

Male Quartet

Vocal Ensemble

The Chorus is one of the college memories which endures long in the mind of every P.S.T.C. student, for it makes many appearances throughout the year. Its functions are varied and its hard-working members in the course of a year present a fine Thanksgiving program plus music for the Christmas Vespers and Baccalaureate services. Besides its annual appearances at Christmas and spring concerts, this year it contributed tremendously to the great success of "Brigadoon," the first operetta to be staged at our college.

Aiming to provide an adequate opportunity for all students to employ their musical talent, the Chorus is ever willing to provide class and extra-class organizations with appropriate incidental music.

Organized as an integral part of the college, this group of selected voices sings both with accompaniment and a cappella.

With the increased enrollment and the able direction of Dr. Yokum, the Chorus has been able to contribute significantly to music education and college life on and off the campus.

Many girls desirous of participation in vocal music find the Glee Club ideal. Here time is devoted to the best music for the inexperienced as well as the experienced. Dr. Yokum, the director, is constantly seeking new talent and is always glad to welcome new voices into the organization.

Having an ever increasing library of publications, the girls have set a record of achievement through the year. One of the outstanding events this year was the presentation of the music for the Christmas Pageant. Worthy of mention also are the parts this organization played in the seasonal concerts and the regality of Junior Week.

Furnishing entertainment for the college, the girls have successfully lived up to the standards set for them by past performances and by their director.

Men's Chorus

New and promising, a men's chorus was added to the Fine Arts Clubs this year. Organized for their own enjoyment as well as that of the college, this ensemble in the future will be taking a major part in musical festivities.

Listen to him play that violin!

Band

"Everybody loves a band." The P.S.T.C. band this year has afforded ample grounds for supporting this statement. Right from the start they provided a wide sampling of music for all to enjoy.

The most important requirement for membership in this organization is possession of instrumental ability and a desire to play. The Band affords a fine opportunity to a number of musically-minded students to participate in one of the outstanding organizations in the college.

Under the direction of Mr. Caswell, the benefits of a wide experience in working and playing together are gained as the group presents music for varied activities. Seasonal concerts and Class Day and Commencement Exercises are annual performances. Short programs are given in the event of a special assembly.

With the inspiration of individual members and the increasing enthusiasm of the student body, the band is rapidly growing in size and importance.

Representative of fine musicianship is the college orchestra. Here, bi-weekly, interested instrumentalists assemble to play music which they know or have a great desire to learn. Included are both popular and classical literature.

In citing appearances they made during the orchestral year, it is fitting to mention their fine presentation of a Bach Cantata in the second annual Thanksgiving program. When Christmas arrived and the Vesper Sing was planned, they were ready and willing to furnish the accompaniment for group singing. In addition to the usual instruments, a number of recorders contributed to the balance and warm tones heard this year. Also outstanding was the role of the orchestra in the first-rate operetta, "Brigadoon," staged in early April. In culminating their activities, they worked with the chorus and a number of soloists to present an effective and memorable Baccalaureate Service.

In cooperation with their director, Mr. Caswell, the orchestra provides an increasingly high type of performance.

The Footlights Club, one of the most active organizations on campus, gives students interested in dramatics an opportunity to participate in the realm of the theatre.

The ability to act is a prerequisite of any person who takes part in a play, but the actor depends heavily upon the many people backstage to create his effect. The members of this club have a chance to learn many of the technicalities of the theatre as well as the art of acting.

A program of one-act plays under student direction is carried on at regular meetings of the club. "Footlights" also assists with the dramatic features of the Christmas Pageant. The public performances in the spring and fall are the major issues of the year.

The young Thespians, under the very able direction of Mr. Hartman, have received a great deal of respect and admiration for their efforts in the college.

Everybody — well,
almost everybody—
reads the Northern Light,

Editor and advisor collaborating.

The Northern Light is one of the best written, best edited college papers in the state, and was the recipient of several awards during the past year.

The "Light" is unique in that it is one of the few college papers without advertising, and is also one of the most professional college papers in its makeup and style. It features a number of good columns, top notch articles, and timely editorials.

A great deal of credit is due to Joan Livingston, editor, and Dr. Harlan, advisor.

What? Professional attitude?

Cooperation in the Lab School.

Mrs. Emma Sheehy, of Columbia University, speaker at an Elementary Club program, chats with members before appearance.

Elementary

The Elementary Club is the largest club in the college, and its program during the past year has endeavored to serve the Elementary students in a broad field of educational interests.

Representatives are sent from this organization to such conferences as the House of Delegates of the State of New York and the New York State Early Childhood Teachers' Association. These conferences, together with guest speakers, keep the Elementary students abreast of the latest changes and advances in the field of Education.

Serving the members from a social standpoint, the club sponsored several dances and activities during the year. Highlights of these social functions were square dances and teas throughout the year and the Pedagogue Hop in May. These activities are open to all college faculty and students.

Thus the Elementary Club successfully serves the students of Plattsburgh State through the medium of education and entertainment in preparation for their lives as teachers.

The Home Economics Club brings many professional and social values to the students in the Home Economics curriculum.

To increase the professional knowledge of its members, the Club has presented Madame Terre, a French home economist, and Miss Rhoads of our college, who spoke on her trip to study fashions in France.

This year to its agenda of activities including the annual Coffee Hour for freshmen and the traditional Christmas Tea, the club has added the job of sponsoring a local Brownie troop.

In addition to the "Platacon," an annual which gives information on the Club's activities, this year the Home Economics Club has the honor of publishing the "New York State Home Economics News Letter."

The club broadens its sphere of influence through its affiliation with the American Home Economics Association and by sending delegates to a state symposium, a workshop at Providence, Rhode Island, and national conventions.

The spaciousness, comfort, and excellent facilities of the Home Management House offer an ideal opportunity for teaching in direct contact with a real life situation. Home Economics seniors live together here in small groups for about six weeks, under a Home Economics faculty supervisor.

The girls who lived here this year will remember the repairs that the home underwent and the many occasions upon which they graciously entertained various college groups.

Social life is part of congenial living in the Home Management House.

The nurses are with us only in their freshman and senior years. During the other two years they train at the Union Hospital in Albany. Through the efforts of the Student Nurse Teacher Club, the nurses in Albany are informed of what is going on in Plattsburgh by way of letters, the Northern Light, and the Newsletter, a publication by and for the nurses.

The nurses in Albany take part in such activities as basketball, fencing, and glee club. The "Cat's Meow," a traditional Halloween dance, sponsored annually in Albany by the Student Nurse Teacher Club, is always a howling success. Before returning to Plattsburgh for their senior year, the nurses look forward to the "White Dinner." It is at this formal ceremony that they first don their white uniforms.

The club is an important part of campus life for every student in the Nurse Teacher group.

A close-knit, smooth working organization would best describe the Men's Club, and much of the credit for this description goes to the board of directors of the club under the guidance of Dr. Allan Everest.

A vigorous program, together with allocation of a special room in Macdonough Hall for its meetings, has greatly added to the stature of the Men's Club.

Besides the usual services made possible to the men, the club provides guidance in the scholastic field and advice on military matters. On the social side, the men had an outing in the fall, entertained the sororities, and had guest speakers and movies on current topics of interest to them.

The Men's Club also provided two annual awards, one for the man with the highest scholastic average, and the other for the best leader and "all-around" man in the Senior Class.

This year has been an active one for the Alpha Deltas. The Interfraternity Tea was the first social function. Next came their annual assembly at which they presented an army theme, "Private A. D."

When the freshmen came to the rush party, they saw the cafeteria transformed into a western casino complete with gambling booths, card tables, and roulette wheels.

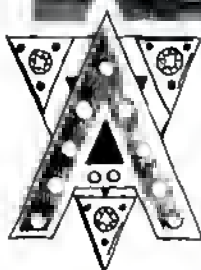

The A. D.'s cooperated with the Clios and Agos to present the Interfraternity Dance, a gala affair open to rushees, sorority members, and their guests.

At Christmas-time the sorority entertained the Men's Club with a party. In February the new pledges were admitted to the fold with initiations and the impressive Pledge Banquet.

To conclude the year all efforts were extended to honor the seniors at the Farewell Banquet.

The Agos have had a busy year and have added much to the social activities of the college.

A Punch Party, to which all the college students and faculty members were invited, started off the Agos' activities. "Frosh Frolics," a musicale with a western theme, gave students of the Freshman music classes an opportunity to meet and work with the sorority members.

The rush party had as its theme "The Land of Nod." Members dressed as story-book characters and entertained pajama-clad rushees.

The Pledge Banquet ushered in "Hell Week." During this comical ordeal, pledges tried to carry out orders. Then came the initiation when new members were formally received.

The final activity on the Agos' social calendar was the Senior Banquet where the sorority sisters bade farewell to the Ago Seniors of 1952.

The Clio "Daisies" have had another year of fraternal fun. The gaiety started with the Interfrat Tea, where the Clios, along with the Agos and Alpha Deltis, showed the Freshmen that P.S.T.C. sororities are worth joining.

In November the Men's Club was host to the girls at a party featured by a most entertaining program.

The crowning event of the Clonian year was the "Clio Day." With an informal coffee hour and a "Gypsy" dance, the Clios gave P.S.T.C. a wonderful day of fun.

The annual rush party was made equally gay by many rushees dressed as song titles. After a fine banquet, and "Hell Week," thirty-five new "Daisies" were added to the Clio chain.

The formal Interfrat Dance proved to be a great success through the mutual efforts of the three sororities.

The happy year ended on a note of sadness with the traditional Clio Breakfast. As the Senior sisters left, they took with them many happy memories of Phi Kappa Pi.

The student body has again agreed to continue helping with the support of a little French girl, Madeline DeCominque. The Foster Child Committee, representative of the classes, directs the functions of this activity.

Money is sent to the Foster Child Association to provide for Madeline, and letters are sent to her from students. Her letters of appreciation in return, posted for all students to read, are more than enough to encourage the continuance of this program.

The sole objective of the Tumbling Club is to bring this activity to any student who enjoys tumbling and gymnastics. The club includes beginners and advanced groups, men as well as women.

The spring exhibition is the climax of their strenuous training in tumbling and with gymnastic apparatus.

Tiwa-ya-ee

The aim of Tiwa-ya-ee is to make P.S.T.C.'s Twin Valleys a better place for college recreation and fun.

This year the club has started to erect a tepee and has begun construction of a lodge at Twin Valleys. When these structures are completed, they will provide student accommodations for many outdoor activities.

Model of the proposed lodge at Twin Valleys.

Outing Club

Many weekends of outdoor fun for the students of P.S.T.C. are provided by the Outing Club, advised by Dr. Backus.

Mountain climbing, bicycling, skating, and skiing are just a few of the activities which the club sponsors. This year a weekend of skiing at Stowe, Vermont was added to the ever-increasing list.

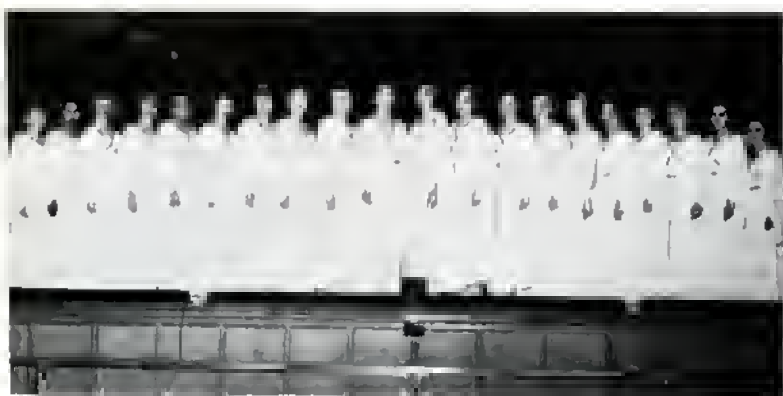

R a d i o W o r k s h o p

Ethereal activity at P.S.T.C. has broadened considerably during this organization's third year on campus. Under Dr. Ganbert's leadership, the workshop produced a series of radio programs and went on a memorable trip to Station CBC in Montreal.

The 1951-52 Varsity was potentially the best team ever to wear the red and white. A series of injuries, Bill McCarthy's first semester graduation, and numerous other obstacles prevented Coach James' attainment of another record-breaking season.

As it was, the squad, though subjected to the toughest schedule in the history of the college, played a lot of top notch basketball and ended the season with better than a .500 average. Some of the Cardinals' strongest opposition was found in teams from RPI, Brockport, Oswego and Albany.

The outlook for next year is promising. Although four first-rate players, Bob Garrow, Al Baldassarri, Gus Perna, and Fred McLaren, will graduate, Mr. James has a strong nucleus around which to build a squad. Jim Sears, Doug Melne, and Ken Humiston, skilled ball handlers with plenty of experience, will likely bear the brunt of attack. The '52-'53 season may well prove to be as successful as this year's.

Junior Varsity Basketball

Proud Coach Shemet after a win.

P.S.T.C.'s "Little Redbirds" did not keep pace with last year's record, but they scored enough points to win several ball games. Mr. Shemet, J. V. coach, was handicapped by the many alterations in playing personnel and by Art Ryan's injury.

As in the case of the Varsity, the J. V.'s played a rugged schedule. Opponents came from Vermont and northern New York.

Coach Shemet may look forward to a better showing next year. Only one mainstay, senior Bob Carpenter, will be lost to the team. With a background of experience, the Junior Varsity should have a winning club in the season to come.

Board

As in the past, this year's Athletic Board directed the organization and financing of all college sports. From the onset, this representative group was faced with a problem of finance.

The appropriation from the House of Delegates grew, but the budget was even greater. With the consent of the House, board members undertook the task of enlarging the sum. The first Athletic Ball was held in October, at which time the college sports queen was crowned. Later, the board sponsored the sale of tickets to basketball games. Through its efforts, the group managed to keep all sports active, and yet within its budget.

In addition, the sports-minded body worked with students to stage P.S.T.C.'s first Athletic Board Open House. The event, held in March, terminated the winter sports season. Finally, as the year drew to a close, the board rounded out its schedule with the annual Athletic Banquet and awards.

The baseball squad of P.S.T.C., under the management of "Doc" Wiley, scheduled eight games for its 1952 season. Among the top teams engaged were our standing rivals, Albany and Potsdam State Teachers Colleges.

With the return of such veteran players as Carpenter, Noone, Ryan, McIntyre, Evola, Fedele, and Yando, plus the addition of new Freshman players, our squad upheld its tradition and displayed outstanding sportsmanship.

At last, it is finished. Now we can settle down and study the growth of our tree, the yearbook, from infancy to maturity.

It all started a year ago when the Junior Class selected us to the staff positions. Then we began to meet with representatives of several reliable yearbook companies. After much deliberation we selected Progress Publishing Associates, Inc. in Albany.

During the initial stages of development, work was centered on the selection and expansion of the theme. Photos of individuals and groups were taken informally in familiar settings.

We have attempted to present a yearbook with an entirely new approach—one which would show college life as the student views it.

Before we close the cover on the 1952 Cardinal, we would like to express our appreciation to the advisors, Dr. Everest and Mr. Delaire, as well as the staff assistants. These people also contributed effort and ideas in preparing this book for press.

Macdonough Hall

Smiles and study in a room designed for comfort and utility.

Dining Hall converted for dancing.

Well-equipped laundries make for easy living.

Macdonough Hall is the beautiful new residence hall for 244 women students. This modern style building, which is "home" to many P.S.T.C. girls, is also the social center for the entire student body. Besides the three floors of rooms and numerous laundries in the residence wings, there are several meeting rooms, game rooms, reception rooms, a music room, a lounge, a large modern dining hall, and a snack bar in the Student Union.

Miss Catherine Davis, director, is competently assisted by four student counselors.

Macdonough Hall Student Union is the center of student activities at P.S.T.C., with many social gatherings and meetings taking place there.
